RED CROSS GOES OVER TOP AGAIN

The Red Cross dance that was held last night at the Airdome proved to be the biggest jitney ever pulled off in Tonopah. The crowd surely did turn out and those who didn't dance spent their money in treating the bids to candy and "weenies." We have reason to be proud of our little town. Its patriotic feeling is universal. Last night is typical of every Red Cross function that has been given. Let the crowd know they are wanted and out they come, with a desire to show their enthusiasm and co-operation that is unmistakable and enthusiastic.

The receipts for last night will net almost $450. The expenses were almost nothing, due to the fact that from the moment the idea of a jitney took shape everything necessary to make it a success was donated. Through the generosity of the Airdome management the hall was free; the music was almost free, due to the fact that the musicians' union sent the Red Cross a substantial check, and every member of the orchestra spent money there last night that subtracted considerable from the amount they will receive for their long and arduous service. They played without stopping from 8 o'clock until midnight—a hard day's work faithfully and delightfully performed. The music was excellent from start to finish. Then came the little children with their enthusiastic work on the paper chains—1200 yards it took to string the Airdome, and they made them with eagerness. Next the "weenies" from the Central market, furnished for less than cost; the rolls from

Mr. Fabb's, at a big reduction; the gifts of the cream from the Pioneer dairy and the sugar from Mr. Kovacic. Mr. Lowe of the gas company furnished the hot plate and the gas free for the occasion and Mr. Hamlin, the candy man, donated all the candy and popcorn balls that were sold on the floor by the girls and boys.

"I'll pop as much as you can sell," said Mr. Hamlin, and the boys and girls made trip after trip back to his little shop for a new load.

The older girls of the schools did valiant duty as vendors of candy, "weenies" and buttons, and if it had not been for the unselfish assistance of Ogden Monahan, Hugh Brown, Jr., and Helen Rowell the ladies who tended the frankfurters would have been clearly up against it. The person engaged to wash dishes was obliged to disappoint them, so the three young people mentioned above stood back of the stand from 11 until 1 o'clock washing cups and saucers as fast as they were used. No glory attached to this! Just plain, faithful, honorable Red Cross service—the kind of spirit that is going to win this war.

The dance was an unqualified success from every standpoint. The money gain was beyond expectations, but more than that it was a proof of Tonopah's loyalty to the Red Cross. Now listen to the scissors click and the machines hum, and watch the packing cases fill with garments and bandages and march up the street to Wells Fargo on their way to "our boys" at the front. All hail to the Red Cross chapter of Tonopah!

MOTOR TRUCK GOES OVER HIGH SIERRAS

"Over the top" from Oakland into the Yosemite valley in January in a 2-ton Fageol truck loaded with Zerolene motor oil was the remarkable trip of Roy Butler of the Butler-Velch company, Pacific coast distributors for the truck, who started from Oakland on Sunday morning, January 5, and made the round trip of 40 miles in forty-six hours. Mr. Butler drove out by way of the Altamont pass, taking the state highway south to Salida, then to the base of the Sierra mountains over the Oakdale-Sonora highway. The return trip was made over the Wawona road.

A heavy fog on the Jacksonville grade and muddy roads were responsible for the loss of considerable time. The only snow, however, was encountered at the summit of the Big Oak Flat road.

Not the slightest engine trouble was experienced, although the motor was at times severely taxed. Mr. Butler was very enthusiastic over the way "The Standard Oil for Motor Cars" responded to the test.

The Fageol truck is not only the last vehicle to enter the Yosemite this season, but also the first to invade the valley regions in 1918. Moreover, it is the only truck which has ever made the trip at this time of the year.

Tale of a Survivor

He had been assigned was shattered by the explosion. He was placed in a boat with ten or twelve others. Ropes which became disarranged caused them all to be thrown into the water. The behavior of the greater part of the soldiers and members of the crew was splendid.

A few became excited and hindered the lowering of lifeboats. In some cases the crews were thrown out while the boat was being lowered. Other boats were let down hurriedly on men swimming around and this caused casualties.

EVIDENCE SOUGHT IN THE SWIFT CASE

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Further search for letters and documents in the vault of Henry Veeder, general counsel for Swift & Co., for use as evidence in the federal trade commission's investigation of the meat packing industry, was suspended while a legal battle was waged before Judge K. M. Landis in the United States district court to determine the constitutionality of the search and seizure clause of the government espionage act, on which rests the future course of the government's inquiry.

Attorney John T. Healey, representing Veeder, forced an immediate hearing on the validity search warrant issued under the espionage law by filing a formal motion to quash the writ and compel the government to return the letters and papers already taken from the Veeder vault.

Under authority of the same clause in the espionage act, the government recently raided the various headquarters of the I. W. W. throughout the country. Thirteen legal objections to the validity of the search warrant were raised.

The constitutionality of the clause was attacked on the ground that it violates the fourth and fifth sections of the constitution of the United States; that the search warrant was issued without sufficient showing of probable cause that a felony had been committed, and that the papers and documents sought in the warrant were not particularly described as the law requires.

RED HILL STRIKE PROVES UP GREAT

Zeb Kendall, Walter Lamb, Forrest Caldwell, the mining engineer, and J. C. Robertson, on invitation from the management of the Red Hill Mining company, left Tonopah this morning for Goldfield and spent an hour and a half inspecting the strike just made in that property.

They found that everything Mr. Howe stated in his message yesterday, which was published in part in the Bonanza, was, if anything, less than the full truth. Courtesy was extended in the matter of sampling. Over fifty pounds from the discovery was brought back. These samples were cut in two and given to two assayers. The high values as stated in yesterday's paper are fully confirmed.

EFFICIENCY CAUSES SAVING OF TIME

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Saving of time aggregating 125 days that would otherwise have been lost through interpretations to the routine of shipping, was effected during January by the organization of shipping efficiency experts created here by the United States shipping board with jurisdiction at New York and nearby ports.

This saving, according to the monthly report of Robert M. King, special dispatch agent of the shipping board, was gained through the use of government authority in securing prompt repair service for steamers and in providing for their eleventh hour needs, like extra labor, water, galley coal, together with emergency attention by authorities in charge of piloting, tugs and barges and ordnance.

The total time saved applied to more than 300 ships, which were loaded here and at nearby ports. As a majority of cargo carrying ships now move in convoys on stated dates, delay of a few hours in getting a ship ready to sail may mean the missing of a convoy and a wait of days before another convoy is arranged.

QUARTER MILLION

"The adoption without any modification of our various types of guns would certainly have saved some time to the benefit of American production, and some delays may be the consequence of the improvements you are looking for, always, and rightly at that, aiming at better results."

"But, as we have agreed, it is understood, that you should supply and transport to France the necessary raw materials, we will, under such conditions, be able, in France, to deliver to you before July 1 enough guns to thoroughly equip twenty of your divisions. The situation, therefore, is completely safe in that respect."

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE BUTLER.

Marguerite Clark in a screamingly funny comedy, entitled "The Amazons," and showing the dainty little star as a hoydenish English girl, swaggering about in boys' clothes and full of pranks and always getting into scrapes. Those who have seen Marguerite Clark in "Miss Washington" will hardly recognize the mischievous, boisterous lad as the demure lady of "fibs," yet the same element of humor and fun runs through the picture, and Marguerite Clark again proves her fitness as the leading screen comedienne. Dainty, demure Marguerite Clark in bloomers and sweater, valiantly using boxing gloves and knocking out a girl about twice her size; Marguerite Clark in correct masculine evening attire, knocking out a six-foot bully of a man, and Marguerite Clark standing on tiptoe on a cross bar of a gymnasium kissing a young English lord—these are a few of the new Marguerites we are going to introduce to you today in "The Amazons." "The Amazons" is a typical Clark picture and presents the little star at her best in a subject of rapid fire theme and hundreds of laughs, and there are various surprises in store for you. For sheer grit and pluck little Marguerite has no superior, plays the part of a boy and is some boy at that, jumps fences, boxes, rides and swims. In several scenes she fights and the fights are real stand up and take it, and little Marguerite got severely bruised during the course of some of them. A plot of more than usual interest and full of the unexpected witchery of Marguerite Clark's own charm. Also a Ford weekly. Matinee 1:30; evening 7 and 8:45. Admission: Children, 11c; balcony, 15c; lower floor, 20c.
